Training matters: Campden BRI seminar

It has been said that the only thing worse than training good employees and losing them, is not training your employees and keeping them. Training matters: how to maximise your training budget, a Campden BRI seminar to be held on 25 November, will focus on the challenges and issues that food businesses have to deal with, including high staff turnover, heavy reliance on overseas nationals, tight budgets, and the wide range of training providers, training delivery techniques and systems available. Amongst other benefits, the seminar will:

- Help companies make the right decisions for their business when it comes to ensuring that staff are trained appropriately and cost effectively.
- Help improve the planning of the right training in the right way at the right time
- Give a greater understanding of the tools available when considering training
- Provide knowledge of the support/training that is available to food businesses

For further information on the seminar - please contact Daphne Llewellyn-Davies on +44(0)1386 842040 daphne.davies@campdenbri.co.uk

Campden BRI (www.campdenbri.co.uk) provides technical, legislative and scientific support and research to the food and drinks industry worldwide – with a comprehensive “farm to fork” range of services covering agri-food production, analysis and testing, processing and manufacturing, safety, training and technical information services. Members and clients benefit from industry-leading facilities for analysis, product and process development, and sensory and consumer studies, which include a specialist brewing and wine division.
